NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Boy Scout troops in the central Ohio area will co-operate with the Ohio division of conservation in an attempt to reduce the heavy loss of pheasants and Hungarian partridge through the operation of farm machinery. It was announced by Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woodell. A plan has been worked out whereby Scouts will comb the fields before the crop of hay, oats, wheat or other grain is cut, collect the pheasant and partridge eggs and have them hatched by setting hens. The division of conservation will pay 25 cents for each pheasant and partridge raised and liberated at the age of four weeks and 40 cents for each one liberated at the age of six weeks. Commissioner Woodell said. The counties where the plan will be put into operation are Delaware, Franklin, Union, Madison, Fayette, Fairfield, Hocking, Pickaway and Ross. It is said that modern farm machinery, which crushes many game-bird nests, and removes the cover thereby exposing the eggs and young birds to their natural enemies destroys more pheasants, partridge and quail than are killed by the guns of hunters.

Official greetings of the state of Ohio to the thousands of delegates who will be in Columbus from June 25 to 28 at the fiftieth annual convention of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union will be offered by Ohio's chief executive, Governor Martin L. Davey. The general chairman of the convention committee, Wesley O. Clark, Cashier in the Department of State, announced that several nationally known speakers will appear on the golden jubilee program. They include Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston, author and youth leader, and Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, who is president of the World Christian Endeavor Union. Advance registration indicates that the convention will be one of the largest in the history of the organization. Features of the golden jubilee include a spectacular religious program, under the direction of H. Augustine Smith of Boston university, an evening parade and a special convention banquet.

A study of 15,248 injury and occupational disease claims filed with the Industrial Commission of Ohio in 1934 shows that 956 were fatal, five were permanent total disability, and 1,443 permanent partial disability, according to Superintendent Thomas P. Kearns of the division of safety and hygiene. More than seven days time was lost by 30,101 of the workers who filed claims. Seven days or less was lost by 18,614 workers and 108,229 were medical cases without time loss. According to research figures available, pending complete payroll reports for the year, employment in Ohio increased 18.3 per cent in 1934 as compared with 1933. In the same period injury and occupational disease claims increased 26.7 per cent. The latter increase was due largely to medical cases, which increased 26.7 per cent, while compensable cases increased only 6.6 per cent and fatalities only 5.5 per cent.

The discontinuance of four airplane landing fields in Ohio was reported by the State Bureau of Aeronautics. They are: McCallister airport near Chillicothe; Gen City airport, near Dayton; Ruff field auxiliary, near Lancaster; and Pierman field auxiliary, near Ottawa. One new landing field has been established. It is located near Sycamore and is privately owned.

The Morristown State Bank Co., of Morristown and the Sharon Center Banking Co., of Sharon Center have been licensed by the division of banks to re-open, it was announced by State Bank Superintendent Samuel H. Squire. License was issued to the Warren State Bank of Warren to re-open for the sole purpose of transferring its assets and liabilities to the Union Savings & Trust Co., of Warren.

LETTER FROM CHINA

Temple Hill, Chefoo, April 18, 1935

Dear Friends:

This is the season of the year when all our schools take a day off and go up on the nearby hillsides to view the blossoms which are now in their full beauty. The apricot and cherry blossoms have already gone by, but the apple, peach and pear—and especially the pear trees, are still very beautiful and well-worth going to see. The air is full of their fragrance and the green wheat fields and the blooming trees make an ideal picture of Spring.

Our own school started off this morning about nine o'clock, with banners waving and bugles blowing—every boy in uniform—either Boy Scout or the regular school uniform of an attractive shade of khaki. Along with them went coolies carrying baskets of lunch swung on carrying poles over their shoulders—with smiles on their faces as if they, too, were looking forward to a day off from their usual duties. The teachers went also but at a much more sedate pace and this afternoon a tired but happy lot of students came back ready for their supper and a day of rest tomorrow. As tomorrow is Good Friday, we are very glad that the rule of play a day and rest a day is in force. Certainly, we approve of the boys going out to see the flowers as the Chinese are passionately fond of flowers of all kinds and especially of the delicate fruit blossoms.

Not long ago we had a short vacation at the Festival of Pure Brightness. At the festival, all who can do so, visit their ancestral homes and dress the graves of their dead. The graves are made clean and tidy and on each one are laid small squares of white or red paper, held down with stones or clods of earth. These papers represent prayers and new clothing for the dead and give the living an excuse for wearing new spring clothing and eating special food on that day.

As we could not observe these customs, we took a little trip to Dairen, eight hours by boat across the bay. It was like going into a different world and we were sorry when our time was up and we had to come back to little old Chefoo. Not that we do not love Chefoo, but it did seem so small and quiet and dirty after the Dairen scene. Dairen is a city of 200,000 people in their foreign dress, looking so pleasing. Whatever the Japanese may be, and they are many things they should not be, one cannot but admire them for their cleanliness and the beauty they display. The shops were a great attraction to us, especially as the yen was very cheap and made shopping a real pleasure. We actually were able to spend and save and more than save our fare over and back. Cloth comes into Dairen duty free and some Japanese cloth is very attractive in quality as well as price.

We had a clam and uneventful journey over to Dairen but found when we arrived that our visit coincided with that of King Teh, the Puppet Emperor of Manchukuo. As it took all the pilots in the port to take in the warship sent to meet the Emperor, into the harbor, we had to wait for hours, and did not dock until ten o'clock instead of seven as we usually do. That afternoon, when we went out to look around, we found certain streets cut off from the public in preparation for the Emperor's coming the next day. The evening papers gave full instructions to the public as to their behavior while His Highness passed through the streets on his way from the station to the docks.

No one was allowed to wear an overcoat or to come within sixty feet of the Imperial motor—ones were taboo—dogs must not be carried—all dogs must be drawn their leashes, and one wondered what would have happened had a policeman chanced to sneeze. We did not see His Highness, nor go as we were enjoying a very interesting movie "when he passed through, but we did feel sorry for the poor, helpless prisoner.

Our return voyage was also calm, but our quarters were slightly crowded. We travelled second class, as a matter of course, and found that we were to have as our cabin mates a nice, fat Chinese, an old country woman, and her little girl, a young Russian widow complete with weeds, and numerous pieces of baggage to fill up the odd spaces. In spite of everything, we went to bed and slept quite well all night. The next morning at four o'clock the customs began their usual hunt for dutiable goods and found quite a lot. Coffee and sugar in any form, also tobacco and opium were seized and taken off to be sold at auction, but many a piece of cloth and no doubt other contraband found its way past the customs. In fact, after the customs launch had left our boat we found a

Damage Hearing Called Mistrial

With selection of a jury hearing completion, jury trial of a $35,000 damage suit filed against the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Pikeville, Ky., based on the accidental death of William Schroeder, Zimmerman, ended abruptly Tuesday morning in Common Pleas Court when Judge R. L. Gowdy declared a mistrial.

The upling resulted from remarks made in open court by one of the tentatively seated jurors, which at once in the case agreed might have proved prejudicial.

Autoist Injured By Fence Post

Show 172 Students Received Support

Financial aid was given 172 students in Greene County's three institutions of higher learning in May, C. C. Stillman, federal relief administrator for Ohio, reported Monday. These students received a total of $1,170 for "socially desirable" work on and off the campus.

S. W. S. 4-H CLUB

The tour to Cincinnati was discussed when the S. W. S. club members of Cedarville township met at the home of Pauline Ferguson. Seven members responded to the roll call: Lonnie Jacob, Pauline Ferguson, Florence Ferguson, Marie Collins, Catherine Ferguson, Mary Gals, and Jean Ferguson.

Hundreds of Fish Dead on Arrival

Through the efforts of Wm. Marshall, the State Conservation Department sent a shipment of lake Erie fish here by truck early Monday morning to be placed above the new dam on Schroeder, Zimmerman, ended abruptly Tuesday morning in Common Pleas Court when Judge R. L. Gowdy declared a mistrial.

Gov. Davey Cuts Into Appropriations

Gov. Davey used his veto and reduced the appropriation bill by nearly nine million dollars for the next eighteen months. The State Highway Department escaped any cuts which insure operation as in the past. The Ohio State University was given the hardest blow when $12,000 was cut out. Other state educational institutions also suffered reductions as well as departments.

Old Civil Actions Are Dismissed

A total of fifty-seven civil suits, some of them pending as long as ten years in Common Pleas Court, had been ordered dismissed for lack of prosecution. Tuesday afternoon, Judge R. L. Gowdy, who is in the midst of his annual task of cleaning up the court docket.

Y. S. To Dedicate New Public Library

The new library erected in Yellow Springs, by the aid of GWA-PRRA labor has been completed and is now in use. A homecoming celebration is planned in connection with the dedication set for June 30. Former Senator B. D. Foss will be the chief speaker. The library has a capacity of 9,000 volumes.

MIZPAH BIBLE CLASS

The Mizpah Bible class of the First Presbyterian Church, met at the home of Mrs. Susan Hanes, Tuesday afternoon, June 18th. Mrs. Sherman Cotton had charge of the devotion.

School Boards Are Advised Amount Sales Taxes Due

Boards of education in eleven rural school districts in Greene County were informed Friday of the amounts which they are entitled to receive from proceeds of the sales tax, and sums they will be permitted to borrow in anticipation of collections during the remainder of 1935.

By virtue of the recently passed and approved House Bill No. 405, enacted by the Ohio legislature, the school districts are authorized to borrow as much as 50 per cent of the amounts certified as their shares from the sales tax.

The amounts each district is entitled to receive follow: Beavercreek, $10,282; Cedarville, $10,140; Clifton, $2,117; Coscorock, $1,590; Jefferson, $4,484; Miami, $5,754; Ross, $9,464; Silvercreek, $7,544; Spring Valley, $8,805; Sugarcreek, $6,555; Xenia Twp., $5,552.

H. C. Aultman, county school superintendent, informed the boards that certification of sales tax revenue provides an opportunity to obtain a part of their 1935 apportionments now or later, as their needs demand. It has been estimated that the sales tax will yield $19.24 per pupil this year, of which only $2.32 per pupil was sent prior to June 7. About $16.92 per pupil will be available during the remaining months of 1935. "Any district in which current operating expenses for the 1934-35 school year are not paid in full may reasonably borrow 50 per cent of the $16.92 per pupil yet to be received in 1935," Sup. Aultman said. School boards, he said, are urged to plan to pay them off for apportionments received from the state public school fund as required by section 6 of House Bill No. 405.

Applicants Receive Postal Exam Grades

The applicants for postmaster have received their grades following the Civil Service examination last December. W. A. Turnbull, former postmaster, and Robert Turnbull, his son, were named as postmasters of Xenia. R. C. Rittenour, who is appraiser for HOLC, stood 80. The appointment will be made from the three applicants.

DATE CHANGED FOR OLD FIDDLES CONTEST IN DAYTON

Because of an event in Dayton which will attract wide attention, the date for the Fiddle Contest, and Old Fiddlers Contest has been changed to June 27th, with the place, Memorial Hall, and the hour 8 o'clock the same as previously announced.

Applications are being received from many old fiddlers. Really old ones. There have been two who are 98 years of age who have sent in their applications, wishing to take part in the contest and to try to take away the first prize of $25.

Don Bassett's Band will play the opening and the closing number on the program, and to those who have heard the band nothing can be said, but to those who have not heard it, let them know right here that they are in for a treat for Don Bassett is the leader of a fine band, and the program will have plenty of stirring numbers.

Applications should be sent to Mrs. H. E. Talbot, Callahan Building, Dayton, or to Don Bassett, Riverview Ave., Dayton.

4-H CLUB

Members of the Progressive Farmers 4-H Club of Cedarville township, enjoyed a delightful program at its meeting, Monday evening. The program consisted of the following talks: Feeding and showing Beef Cattle by Gregg Turner; Feeding and Showing Dairy Cattle by David Ramsey; and Feeding and showing Swine by Otis Shaw.

The next meeting will be held at 7 o'clock, June 24 at the school. All the members are urged to be present as there is important business to be taken up.

GETTING READY FOR BUSINESS

On recommendation of Senator Buckley of Ohio, Judge H. Devoe Smith, Xenia, has been named HOLC attorney to hear charges of foreclosure cases in Greene county.

NO NEW SCHOOL BUILDING WILL BE POSSIBLE NOW

For some time the State Educational Department has been trying to interest the local district in a new building in addition to the one in use. In as much as it had been intimated that such a building could be erected with federal and state money, members of the local board were in more or less of a receptive mind.

Tuesday, a Mr. Hatch of the State Department met with the board to go over the proposition and make inspection of sites.

The application for such a building, contained a provision that put a different face on the proposition so far as finances were concerned. It developed that the federal government would contribute 46 per cent of the funds but that the state would not contribute a cent. This would leave the local school district to raise 55 per cent of a building that was estimated to cost from $250,000 to $300,000.

Members of the board were not inclined to give the proposition further consideration as this would mean a special election for a bond issue to raise the necessary funds to meet the 55 per cent requirement of the federal government. If such a bond issue would carry it to the tax rate outside four mills to the tax rate outside of the 10 per cent limitation, it would also require an extra levy of probably three mills to provide upkeep.

Cedarville Troup Received 2nd Honors

The Cedarville Troup No. 68, Boy Scouts of America, attended the Camporee at Camp Miami, Bryan Park June 14, 15 and 16. Two patrols of eight boys each were awarded Class B honors, receiving between 900 and 1200 points. Considering that most of the local troups were newcomers this year, those sponsoring the troups feel highly pleased.

4-H COOKING CLUB

The 4-H Cooking Club had its second meeting with their leaders, Mrs. George Gordon, June 18, and discussed the trip to Cincinnati, which was enjoyed by all of the members.

Three demonstrations of how to make coffee, tea and cocoa, by Elizabeth Anderson and Dorothy Galloway. The next meeting will be Thursday, June 20 at Elizabeth Anderson's house at 2 o'clock.

ENTERTAINS GUESTS AT LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Miss Phyllis Flatter, Cedarville-Clifton Pike, entertained a small group of friends at luncheon at her home Thursday afternoon. Following the luncheon the group enjoyed a theater party in Springfield.

Miss Flatter's guests were Misses Mary Margaret McMillan, Harriet Rittenour and Eleanor Bull, all of Cedarville.

GOVERNOR DAVEY MAY YET BELIEVE STATEMENTS

While we have had no public quarrel with Gov. Davey and have had little to say concerning his administration, yet we could hardly let his statement made at Wilberforce commencement go by without comment. It had to deal with the newspapers of the state and his administration. Some time ago he made a similar statement at a meeting in Eastern Ohio. The newspapers made little mention of it but since he has chosen to repeat it again the public should not be inclined to give it much serious consideration.

At the Wilberforce commencement address the Governor found pleasure in making the statement that by pre-arrangement the newspapers of the state were to oppose him on the ground the people had no faith in newspapers and through their opposition the citizens would think more of his administration, or words to that effect.

We have no direct political interest in the success of the Governor's administration, other than what is good for the state as a whole. The public should at least know the facts. There is a wide division of the Democratic press of the state towards the Governor, in fact we cannot name one metropolitan daily newspaper, Democrat or Republican, that gives him editorial support. There are scores of smaller Democratic papers that seldom mention his name or even his administration. Most of the daily newspapers that supported him previous to the election openly oppose him now on most issues concerning state government.

The Governor's statement and his attitude is something new in politics in Ohio. His administration from a political standpoint is of little interest to Republican newspapers. We should think it would be hard to harmonize his Wilberforce statements with the attitude of the Democratic press.

THE WHOLE FAMILY IS DOING IT

One naturally has to be somewhat careful just what he or she may have to say concerning America's would-be dictator, Frankenstein. In as much as the assumed dictator is now facing much opposition, not only in northern states but southern as well, the whole family is out beating tom-toms to drown out the opposition.

Last week down in good old Democratic Texas two sons of the Frankenstein family took issue with leading Democrats who gloated over the death of NRA. Both also endorsed the father's method of "share the wealth" which should make interesting reading to Greene county Democrats. The Texas Democrats did not take the advice offered and decided to stand by the Constitution, letting dictatorship get along the best way it can.

A few days before the Texas incident the Frankenstein offspring sought to dictate just what Georgia Democrats should do. Gov. Talmadge has opposed the injection of Socialism and Communism in the good old party. He fought the NRA every inch of its short life. He even defied enforcement of AAA in any way that involved the government of that state. The Democrats had reached the stage where a new National Committee was needed in Georgia and here is where advice from the seat of government in Washington was offered again by the younger set. That the advice was not necessary is reflected in the result. The Democrats named Gov. Talmadge as national committeeman, a direct slap at the Frankenstein dictatorship.

When we dropped back to the "Horse and Buggy days" following the death of NRA, former Governor Bill Murray, Oklahoma, issued a statement that he was ready to turn over to the Republicans if it was necessary to uphold the constitution.

Over in West Virginia the Democrats have their fill of the dictatorship of the feminine side of the house of Frankenstein. Eleanor has several of the Socialistic model towns in that state erected by the government. West Virginia is noted for its timber and great lumber companies yet the contract for the experimental houses went to a Chicago mail order house, that shipped the lumber from California. This was far from pleasing the lumber interests that at that time were operating under the heavy coat of NRA codes. The information we get is that West Virginia is but awaiting the time of the arrival of any member of the Frankenstein family that attempts to dictate to the Democratic party just what it should and should not do in that state. The head of the Chicago mail order house held several positions at one time under the New Deal, all of which faded when the Supreme Court hung the crepe on the White-house door announcing that "Nira" was dead.

More trouble at the door of Frankenstein — Gen. Hugh Johnson, the "big bouncer" for the house of NRA, last week jumped all over Frankenstein, Coughlin, Long, Richberg. Johnson is the Wall Street idea of a successful NRA administrator that always looks after the interests of small business first—getting it out of the way.

The new NRA has all the vital parts that could be expected in such a short time of contraption. It is to be a harmless sister bearing a brand of resemblance of the old Blue Eagle. It would have been better had the public been informed—"Death from premature birth."

A bad smell has arisen in the ranks of the New Deal, that may out-arrive the famous Tea Pot Dome. Ewing Y. Mitchell, assistant secretary of commerce under Daniel Roper, has been discharged, after refusing to resign. He did not quit his post until he informed President Roosevelt of some of the reasons why he would not be driven out at the hands of the grafters that were helping themselves to riches at government expense. The President must have found a shock when he found the name of a cousin as head of a steamship company that was having an easy time to pick big profits off Uncle Sam. Another was a New York millionaire that had been hauling the President on ocean joy rides, on a million dollar vessel. Mitchell was taking action in the supreme court for reinstatement under a former decision that an appointee cannot be fired in such a manner. Legislative leaders under the New Deal are now trying to throw cold water on exposures. Mitchell has made. You will remember such a plan was used in Tea Pot Dome but as time went on a cabinet officer was sent to prison; others mixed in the scandal also served time. Others left hurriedly for Europe to escape legal service.

The village treasurer this week received a check for $18 as his share of the sales tax for the month of May. It is wonderful how much money you get for the tax you pay. We are informed that enough names are now on the petitions for a referendum election to eliminate the sales tax on food, clothing, coal and building material for homes. Should the electors endorse such a change more than fifty per cent of the sales tax money would be wiped out. Gov. Davey expects to call the legislature probably in September to enact a permanent tax program. Bills certain to be offered are a state-wide income tax probably as low as $500. A gross income tax on all kinds of business that would be added to the cost of articles sold. A service tax on such things as laundry, public or in a private home; shoe shine stand; shaves and hair cuts, physicians calls, undertakers, lawyers fees and a score of other service. All this to be paid by the consumer. After all what is saved on food, etc., will be collected in other ways.

While Gov. Davey has trimmed nine million dollars from the appropriation bill for state departments covering the next eighteen months it now develops that much of this amount was placed in the financial bill for political purposes for the Governor had the opportunity of objecting before the bill was passed. It had been drawn by his own party leaders and amounts inserted that would permit him to make first page with big veto reductions.

It might be necessary to question a few of the items even left in the bill by the Governor. For instance the U. S. and Ohio Supreme Courts have killed the NRA codes. To enforce the Ohio code the bill called for an appropriation of $112,000. He reduced this amount to $97,740 which would still enable a number of Democratic politicians to hold on to jobs and draw fat salaries in a department that has been declared illegal.

The Agricultural Extension Bureau of O. S. U. had its share reduced from $511,700 to $450,000. Wilberforce was cut from $578,250 to $453,400. The Gov. was presented an honorary degree by the University last week at which time he assured the management that it would be amply cared for as not enough funds had been provided in the bill. The reduction speaks for itself.

The O. S. & O. Home was reduced from $1,289,587 to $904,469. Ohio State University was slashed from $7,156,600 to $5,889,100. John B. Fullen, O. S. U. alumni secretary suggests that the board of trustees close the university for at least half a year.

The State Highway Department did not suffer any cuts and will have more than $37,000,000 to spend. This department is entirely under control of the Governor, and operates at his direction. Scores of other state activities suffered "heavy cuts," more money being provided in the that had ever been asked for. This veto makes good political reading.

While the pruning knife of Gov. Davey was trimming supposed "high" appropriations, we are in receipt of an analysis of receipts and expenditures of the State Highway Department under the direction of the Sheriff's committee. We find in the report some of the interesting things. For instance it cost the state $5,232 for alcohol and anti-freeze solutions for automobiles and trucks used in the department during the year 1934. Gasoline to keep autos and trucks moving cost $797,121. Motor oil cost $82,604. Repair parts and supplies for autos and trucks, $319,901. Tires and tubes cost $118,765. Grease for the motor outfit cost $30,073. These are but a few of the items in the long list that totaled more than $7,000,000. All this cost was paid from the fees paid for auto license, gasoline tax, liquid fuel tax, etc. The income from these sources totaled more than 53 million dollars for 1934. Of the income, counties received more than 15 million dollars; schools, more than 10 million; municipalities, more than 8 million; townships, more than 2 million. It cost $1,308,875 to collect the registration fee, gasoline and liquid fuel tax. Here is where the Governor failed to use his veto pen. It will be recalled when the George White Democratic administration had the motor vehicle license bureau taken from the Secretary of State it was argued the State Highway Department could handle it for less. Instead it has cost the state several hundred thousand dollars more under the Highway Department than ever in the history of the state. After all you should not get excited over the Governor's veto. A reduction in government cost is of course a reduction, but a veto of certain items in the appropriation bill does not reflect what the department affected has cost in the past. These amounts were made unusually high by Democratic leaders that controlled both Senate and House for veto purposes. Had the Governor made cuts in his Highway Department there would be a mark of sincerity in his veto of items for other departments.

You can get a good idea of how the Roosevelt bizzard worked to the disadvantage of the state. The Democrats to fall in line passed what was termed the Ohio Recovery Act with provision for several hundred politicians on the state pay roll. It was also held that any firm that had not signed up with NRA could not bid on state supplies. Bids were asked on more than a billion sales tax coupons. An Ohio firm thinking it had the upperhand and no large out-of-state firm could bid under ORA, set the price plenty high at $147,000. A Chicago firm bid just the same and $35,848 under the Akron concern. Suit was brought against awarding the contract to the Akron company and this week Judge King, Franklin county, sustains the injunction. If Jesse James could only have lived through the Roosevelt blue bizzard period he could have piled his trade without danger of molestation of the law. As one Democrat stated some days ago, things now look bad for the Roosevelt application of the laws of the jungle, "Grab what you can from whom you can at any time you can."

We had a very important admission made to us while discussing present day problems with a prominent legislator in Columbus this week. The question of the tendency of the times and what we were hearing brought out that if the state and nation continued the present relief and pension plans it would not be long until there would be no one to provide the funds through taxes. It was stated that already two manufacturing firms are leaving the state and that three plants owned out of the state have been closed down and will within a year be dismantled and probably located in one of the southern states. Manufacturers and business men are fearful of what the state legislature will do in the extra session this fall on the tax program. There are many states bidding for northern industry. The so-called child labor laws are not popular in the south where boys and girls of twelve to sixteen years of age are denied employment in vacation periods. Our informant stated that keeping young people out of employment when they could earn a living to help support aged or sick parents, had greatly added not only to relief rolls but forced many to apply for old age pensions. The state is now spending several million more than the income. The whole program is hanging in a balance and with many new taxes facing all classes, we might not be so far from the time when old age pensions and relief will be no longer possible. Leading business men now fear that more new taxes will bring on a general tax strike in Ohio from all classes. It is time for serious thought.

Livestock Losses

Heavy in Transit

Two suggestions for reducing livestock shipping losses are advanced by C. W. Hammans, extension specialist in marketing for the Ohio State University.

He suggests the use of sand as a bedding material for truck and carload shipments during the hot summer months, and trucking to market at such times that the livestock will arrive during the early morning hours. The sand, well wet down, helps to avoid overheating and losses.

Shipping losses during a year are estimated to amount to as much as $30,000,000, Hammans says. Losses from death and crippling at four Ohio markets reach $162,000 during a season when accurate count was kept.

Greatest losses are with hogs. During summer months one hog in 200 is dead upon arrival at the stockyards. Of the $162,000 loss reported in the survey, $137,000 were in hogs. The balance was the result of losses of calves, sheep, and calves.

Historical Mileposts

Of Ohio

By C. S. Van Tassel

(Copyrighted)

Following the changes in the official careers of many of the prominent men in the early days of Ohio is an interesting study. Governors became United States Senators, United States Senators were elected Governors, Supreme Court Justices were elevated to higher rank, and still others accepted lower places in the category.

An instance was the election of Ex-Governor Worthington to the State Legislature, his interest in the canal projects being the reason. As a result, there were many resignations, appointments and elections to fill vacancies.

Allen Trimble became acting Governor of Ohio January 4, 1822 on the election of Governor Ethan Allen Brown to the United States Senate.

Trimble was a Virginian by birth and came to this State in 1805. After two unsuccessful attempts following his first short term, he was then elected Governor for two terms, 1824 and 1826.

In his second term, General William Henry Harrison resigned as United States Senator on his appointment by President John Quincy Adams as minister to Columbia.

Selecting Gen. Harrison's successor developed a most exciting political contest between the Jackson and anti-Jackson forces, which extended through two joint sessions of the Legislature convened for the purpose.

Finally, Judge Jacob Burnet of Cincinnati, after long sieges of balloting, was elected by three votes.

Although Judge Burnet had been prominent in the development of the Northwest Territory and the State of Ohio, by reason of his anti-Jackson proclivities, the Jackson press for a long time was bitter against him, denouncing him a rank "Federalist."

As showing the operation of certain laws then still in force in the first elective term of Governor Trimble, Andrew Mack, a State Senator from Hamilton County, had been imprisoned for debt. "Whereupon, the Senate adopted a resolution declaring Mack's confinement a violation of legislative privilege," and under their action, the matter was taken to the courts. At the hearing, the court annulled the order confining the Senator and he returned to his official duties at Columbus.

Andrew Jackson, Democrat, was elected President, his electoral vote being 178 to 83 for John Quincy Adams, the National Republican candidate for his second term.

Temperance Notes

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

Alcohol is not an agent of life, but an accomplice of death.—Amos H. Wells.

The great dry victory in Georgia gives further evidence of a rapidly rising tide of opposition to a repeal conditions and that prohibition is on its way back.—National Voice.

I am grieved to the heart to see the number of idlers, thieves and sots in these infamous seminaries—taverns, dram shops and tippling houses.—John Quincy Adams.

Many people thought that repeal would bring John Barleycorn out into the light of day, but Federal Liquor Commissioner Joseph Choate says that John loves the moonshine still.

When they say to you that we must have light wine and beer to get people to respect the law, just remember that the greatest preacher in his greatest sermon, said: "Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing."

Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. C. M. Ritchie is distributing to the officials in all the churches of the village, literature against the saloon, and requesting each pastor to preach on it June 30, which is Temperance Day in the Sabbath Schools.

A committee composed of four from each church is expected to secure the signing of a petition to place the prohibition of liquor in the town and township of Cedarville and place in hands of officials in Xenia to be placed on the official ballot to be voted on at the election next November. Do your best to create enthusiasm and secure votes on this most important question.

Says Chinch Bugs

To Threaten Corn

Entomologist, Finding Bugs

Numerous, Prepares Control Plan

Prospects for a damaging chinch bug outbreak following wheat harvest are becoming more certain as the month of June progresses. Counts of adult bugs feeding and laying eggs in fields of wheat and rye reveal that some wheat fields are well populated.

A survey by T. H. Parks, extension entomologist for the Ohio State University, in Wayne county, June 10, showed from one to 125 bugs present in each three feet of drill row. The average was 30 bugs.

This degree of infestation, says Parks, points to serious injury to corn that is growing next to the heavier infested wheat fields. Heavy rains in late June may lessen the seriousness of the outbreak.

A new generation of bugs will develop in wheat and rye during the last half of June and the first half of July, Parks warns. These will leave the wheat about harvest time and crawl to those corn fields that adjoin wheat. Corn fields not adjoining wheat will not be damaged. Late corn is in greatest danger because of its small size at the time of migration of the chinch bugs.

Damage to corn can be prevented only by the construction and proper maintenance of creosote barrier lines, according to Parks. These are placed outside the first row of corn or in front of the oncoming bugs at the time they move out of the wheat.

About one gallon of creosote is required for each two rods of line to be laid. Paper strips four inches wide and stood on edge in loose soil furnish an excellent barrier if kept impregnated with creosote, says Parks.

It is the odor of the creosote that repels the bugs.

It is expected that 50 Ohio counties will be affected by the outbreak. Most severe damage is expected in the north central counties extending from Hancock to Summit.

Parks says the bugs will commence migrating in late June and will be entering the corn fields throughout the first half of July.

The departments of entomology of the university and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station since June 10 have been assisting county agricultural agents in the conduct of demonstrations of barrier building, including the erection of the new paper barriers.

Ohio, through the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service, has asked the federal government again to supply creosote to be used as soon as the bugs begin to move. A half million gallons of creosote from government sources will be supplied in tank cars located at strategic points to be available to farmers whose crops are threatened. County agricultural agents will supervise distribution.

Other sources of creosote are provided to farmers. Several companies are laying in supplies to be sold at prices ranging from 18 to 30 cents a gallon.

These include: Distributors for the Barrett Company at Cleveland, Youngstown, Cincinnati, Toledo and Columbus; The Coppens Company, Youngstown; Kelly Tar and Chemical Corporation at Dover; Baker Wood Preserving Company at Washington Court House; Jennings Wright Company at Toledo; Compressed Wood Preserving Company at Winton Place, Cincinnati, and the Wood Preserving Company at Orrville.

The Rooney Bros. circus billed for this place last Friday afternoon and evening failed to get a suitable exhibition lot large enough to accommodate their main tent. The show went on from here to Yellow Springs, where it played Saturday.

MODERN PRISCILLA CLUB

The Modern Priscilla Sewing Club met at the home of Doris and Ada Ferryman. Fraeja Jolly, Genevieve Turner, Nancy Finney and the leader, Miss Julia McCallister, gave reports of the club tour to Cincinnati. A motion that all members who were tardy should pay one cent was carried.

The next meeting will be held at the School House, Wednesday at 2 p. m. All members are urged to be prompt.

Hon. Collin McMillan of Colville, Wash., and daughter, Miss Rachel of Baganaw, Mich., who teaches in that city, are here on a visit with Miss Sallie McMillan and other relatives.

The yearly luncheon of the Research Club was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hastings, the meeting being changed from Mrs. Frank Townsley's owing to illness. Miss Nellie McCabe, president of the Middlewest District, was the guest speaker.

Three representatives of The Central Trust Co., Cincinnati, were at the Exchange Bank, Wednesday, having personal interview in connection with loans that had been made by the bank and the notes being discounted to the Cincinnati institution.

Good Crops Small Grains Predicted

Normal Yields Estimated in Government June Crop Survey

Good crops of the small grains are predicted by government crop reporters who base their estimates upon crop conditions on the first of June.

A report to the Ohio State University states that winter wheat prospects are 100 million bushels better than were reported in May, that the spring wheat crop will be more than twice as large as last year's, and that oats and rye yields are expected to be normal.

The expected year's harvest, and represents the first normal crop since 1902.

Meadows are said to be near-normal in condition, and pastures, the report says, have returned to normal condition for this time of the year except in the most severely drought-stricken areas in the west.

Ohio crop prospects point to a 39,000,000 bushel yield of wheat, about 6,000,000 bushels above average production; oats, barley and rye expectations are above average.

Corn planting is reported generally delayed. On the first of June about two-thirds of the crop in the corn belt was planted. Usually at that time, 95 per cent of the crop is in the ground.

Lesson for June 23

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:9; 14:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Sharing the Good News of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Goes Preaching.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Can I Do for Missions?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Missionary Purpose of the Church.

God is, in his essential being, merciful and compassionate. All his promises to and actions toward man have been with redemptive ends.

1. Israel a Missionary Nation.
Following the apostasy of the whole race, God called Abraham to become the head of a race through whom all the nations of the earth were to be blessed (Gen. 12:1-3). The first gospel promise, that of Genesis 3:15, was to become an actuality through the missionary activities of the Jewish people.

2. The nations of the earth invited to look to God (Isa. 55:22). Israel was called to be the peculiar witness to the nations of Jehovah, the one God (Deut. 6:4).

3. Christ given as a light to the nations (Is. 49:6). Christ is the way, the truth, and the life (John 14:6). Christ is the light of the world (John 8:12).

4. Jonah, a Jew, goes as a missionary to a Gentile city (Jonah 3:1-10). Jonah is prophetic of the nation and God's purpose for the Jews. While the chosen nation has been disobedient to God as Jonah was, yet after severe chastisement they shall fulfill the divine purpose.

5. The Church a Missionary Organization.
The very genius of the Church is propagation through devout missionary effort.

6. The apostolic commission (Matt. 28:18, 20).
a. The authority of Jesus (v. 18). God gave him all authority in heaven and earth. b. The commission of the apostles (vv. 19, 20).

(1) It was to teach that is, make disciples of all nations (v. 19). They were to make known the world that Christ died to save sinners.

(2) Baptize those who believed. This baptism was to be in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, indicating that the believer has been "ought into definite relationship to each member of the Holy Trinity."

(3) To teach the disciples obedience (v. 20). Obedience is not enough. Obedience must issue.

c. The all-sufficient promise (v. 20). There would constantly be the blessing and fellowship of the all-powerful Saviour and Lord.

7. The missionary program (Acts 13:8). The Church is under solemn obligation to witness to all the world of the gracious salvation which has been provided in Christ.

8. The first foreign missionaries (Acts 13:12). The occasion for this enterprise was a meeting of certain prophets and teachers at Antioch. While these ministers were engaged in praying, the Lord laid heavily upon their hearts the evangelization of the world. This marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the Christian Church.

9. Preaching Christ before Agrippa (Acts 26:12-20). Paul, having been brought before the king, took advantage of the opportunity to witness to him of the Saviour. Observe, a. His manner of life (v. 12). He showed that he had been in strictest accord with the most rigid sect of the Jews. b. His supernatural conversion (v. 13-19). Christ had appeared to him on the way to Damascus and revealed himself to him. c. Jesus Christ commissioned him for a work (vv. 19-20). He was sent to the Gentiles to open their blind eyes, to turn them from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God. d. His consecration (vv. 20, 22). He rendered immediate obedience to his commission. He showed that the opposition which he now experienced was due to his vigorous prosecution of his work.

10. The Foot of the Rainbow.
The foot of the rainbow is never where you think it is. Perhaps there is a pot of gold there, but there are many more pots of gold that you will pass on your way to realize your dreams. Some men have the vision to see them.

11. The True End of Life.
Happiness is the true end and aim of life. It is the task of intelligence to ascertain the conditions of happiness, and when found the truly wise will live in accordance with them.

LETTER FROM CHINA

piece of black broadcloth snugly tucked away under my pillow and saw the cabin boy take it and also something else out of another hiding place in the room.

Since our return we have been busy with mid-term exams and the extra work they always make. There have been a number of meetings for the students urging them to dare to live a more Christ-like life and of the 85 who signed up, more than half were non-Christians. More and more of our boys are coming to believe and there has been recently organized for the students of the different schools a vespers service every Sunday evening—for students and led by students. Five boys were taken into the church last Sunday besides others. A meeting was held by the teachers of our school a few days ago to discuss twelve points which were to help the students in their determination to lead better lives.

On Easter Sunday there will be several early morning meetings at different points in the hills, which are now very beautiful and lend much to the joy of such a meeting. The Chinese Y.M.C.A., together with the Y.W.C.A. will hold their meeting at a recently opened park, which used to be a private summer home, flower garden and orchard combined, of a wealthy Chinese merchant. After the service there will be an egg hunt and breakfast will be cooked and served to all those present. We have attended such a meeting and were very pleased with the reverent spirit shown.

There will be a meeting of the mission at Tsingtao this year in June and, as I have not attended a meeting of that kind for twelve years, I am thinking of going this year. We have not always been able to afford general meetings and as a rule, only those who are some important committee go to the meeting. It is a good thing for as many as possible to go whenever there is a general one otherwise the members of the different stations would have no opportunity of getting acquainted with each other. There will be a time of devotional meetings each day and the remainder of the time will be given up to business.

I expect to take up a new form of work which will bring me into contact with a number of Chinese women, and to which I am looking forward with much interest. This work is to conduct a class in sewing, chiefly making children's clothes. The Chinese are very eager to learn more foreign ways of doing things and this is something which will not only give them what they want but also brings us closer to them with the hope of winning them to Christianity in the future. Our Better Homes Club is still flourishing and will hold their meeting at our home this month. Our American Consul will speak to the Club and the usual Dutch treat feast will be served. We have enjoyed this club very much since its organization last year and think it is a decided influence for good among its members.

In closing, let me thank you for your interest in the past and ask for your prayers for us and the work here. We are finding our work more and more a glad experience and like Chinese people more the longer we know and work with them.

With best wishes and kindness regards.

WILHELMINA LANNING.

Now it's SEVEN

WE used to sit up until midnight to telephone out of town at the low night rates... then it was eight-thirty... NOW IT'S SEVEN. You can phone and save and still go to bed with the chickens.

At seven p. m., the evening is barely started. Children are awake to say "Hello" to grandma, or to daddy away on a trip. Friends are not yet gone out for the evening. You're almost sure to find them there. And if you, yourself, have plans for the evening, you can phone at the thrifty rates and still get an early start.

To get the low night rates, be sure to call by number. Do not ask for a particular person. If you do not have the number, ask the operator to get it. She will do it cheerfully.

Rogers' New Movie His Funniest

Will Rogers' latest picture, "Doubting Thomas," is to open a week's engagement at the Regent Theater, in Springfield, on Friday, June 21. National cinema critics who have been invited to preview the film before its release for public showing are unanimous in their declarations that "Doubting Thomas" is the best comedy production the famous cowboy humorist has made to date.

The story affords Rogers a role suited ideally to his talents, he playing the part of a thunder-struck husband with a stage-struck wife. The plot revolves around the desires of Rogers' wife to become a stage actress.

In the supporting cast of "Doubting Thomas" are many cinema favorites, including Sterling Holloway, Billie Burke, Allison Skipworth, Gall Patrick and Frances Grant.

The State Theater, in Springfield, will show this weekend the picture that has made Paris famous, "Folies Bergere," starring Maurice Chevalier, Ann Southern and Merle Oberon. It will open at the State Saturday for a 4-day engagement.
